Douglas Tax Unit Offers To Appear at Statehouse

By CLARKE THOMAS
Journal Capitol Reporter

The Douglas County Board of Equalization has invited itself to appear before the State Board of Equalization Thursday afternoon

This word came from Omaha after there had been persistent unconfirmed reports at the Statehouse that the board would appear

Although Douglas County suffered an 18 per cent loss in city real estate valuations this year it was not one of the 42 counties called for questioning by the state board

Douglas County Assessor Joseph Stolinski said all members of the Douglas Board voted in favor of making an appearance It was not decided whether board members themselves would come to Lincoln Thursday or whether a representative would be sent

As tax assessment hearings opened this week several counties complained vehemently because Douglas County had not been called

The Douglas County Board's action may take the state board off the hook

The appearance apparently will coincide with one by Lancaster County officials

Lancaster to Appear

Lancaster County (Lincoln) also not on the list of those requested to appear before hearings asked for a hearing in connection with the Douglas County matter The state board invited Lancaster County officials for a session at 2 p m Thursday

As the hearings entered their second day with Buffalo County (Kearney) on the stand the state board again faced its No 1 question in this year's hearings—which yardstick to use

Court Says Sale Price

The State Supreme Court has made it clear that tax assessments must be based on actual sales figures

Yet many counties—such as Lancaster Gage Richardson Otoe and Buffalo—have had scientific reappraisals made by outside disinterested appraisal firms Douglas County has been reappraised by the Douglas County Tax Appraisal Board (TAB)

When the figures gained by using the two yardsticks differ a major problem arises

State board officials say they haven't called Douglas County because they are satisfied with the figures obtained by the TAB which finished its work just this year

But Buffalo and Richardson Counties are asking why their scientific reappraisal figures shouldn't likewise be accepted

Detailed Defense

For instance as hearings opened for the second day Tuesday Buffalo County came in with a detailed defense of their assessments

Last year Buffalo County contended it had equalized between city and farm real estate But the state board—acting on the basis of sales figures—said city property was assessed too low and applied a 43 per cent boost

This year Buffalo County cut its town real estate assessments back 43 per cent

It was called in to "show cause" why its city real estate assessments shouldn't be boosted

Joseph Meyer of the J T Wilkins appraisal firm which completed a reappraisal for Buffalo County was placed on the stand to show what his firm did

Then Art Holmberg of Shelton chairman of the Buffalo County board said "We hired these people They were (disinterested) strangers They know what they are doing They tell us our real estate is equalized all over the county We paid a lot of money for this appraisal Now you take another yardstick and tell us we're not equalized and club us over the head"

British Note Also Denounces Action

By the Associated Press

The United States and Red China have traded protests about the aerial gunplay over the South China Sea

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced that Britain is transmitting the American protest at U S request to the Peiping government The United States has no diplomatic relations with the Communist regime Britain has

In Washington it became known the American message strongly worded denounces the actions of Red Chinese fighters in first destroying a British airliner Friday and then on Sunday firing on American naval planes searching for survivors The American planes returned the fire the United States announced Monday and shot down both Chinese attackers

Red Version

The news of a grave protest by Red China came from broadcasts of the Peiping radio heard in Tokyo Deputy Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu declared in a statement the American planes were inside Chinese territory when they fired though the Americans said the incidents took place over the high seas outside Chinese territorial waters

The British government also announced a new protest to Peiping against Red interference with rescue operations for survivors of the British airliner Ten persons including three Americans are presumed dead

Prime Minister Churchill met with his Cabinet and military chiefs to discuss the incidents

Ships Attacked

The Red protest also charged that after the shooting incident two U S fighter planes machine-gunned two Polish merchant ships and a Chinese Communist warship

"Our forces fired back and repelled the invaders" the Chang statement said "These acts are a repetition of imperialist America's aggressions"

The United States said the carrier planes in the encounter were fired upon by one warship but did not fire back

China asserted the incident was touched off Sunday when four carrier planes flew over Yulin harbor Yulin is on the south coast of Hainan Island

At 10 05 a m he continued again 12 American carrier planes penetrated the skies over Lokwei (on Hainan's east coast 90 miles northwest of Yulin) on Hainan Island Our two patrol planes took pursuit and were shot down

Eden Has Note

In London Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament that Britain already has the American note for relay to the Red Chinese

He said

"I have been requested to instruct our charge d'affaires in Peiping to convey a protest to the Chinese government on behalf of the United States government both in respect of the six U S citizens killed and wounded in the British airliner and the wanton interference with search and rescue operations in the area of the incident"

The week end plane clashes climaxed by the shooting down of two attacking Chinese fighters by U S planes aroused angry protests in Congress and further embittered American feelings toward the Peiping regime

Chairmen of both the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees urged colleagues to let the White House and State Department call the signals

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said this should be left in the hand of the executive and that official Washington should not fly off the handle

Not Justified

Rep A L Miller (R-Neb) said in a separate interview "I don't think we are justified in bringing our planes ships and personnel to patrol the coast of China to protect British shipping and planes Let Britain do it"

The Navy Department meanwhile reported American carrier planes were continuing to patrol the skies around Hainan Island searching for possible additional survivors from the British airliner which was downed Friday

Senate Still Rumbling On A-Bill

No End Seen To Long Debate

WASHINGTON (P) — The great Senate marathon argument on atomic legislation rumbled on Tuesday but Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) professed optimism it was drawing to an end

"I think we'll wind up the bill today" Knowland told a reporter

"We'll wait her out and see" Sen Hickenlooper (R-Ia), floor manager for the measure was less hopeful

"I don't think we'll finish by midnight" he said in a separate interview He did not venture an opinion on how long the continuous session might run

Morse Hoarse

Sen Morse (Ind-Ore) ended at 12 22 p m a speech he began at midnight The 12 hours 22 minutes speech brought his total speaking time on the atomic bill to 29 hours and 15 minutes

At the end his voice was slightly hoarse but was still full of vigor as he lambasted tactics of the GOP leadership

Each side in the embattled struggle blamed the other for the prolonged deadlock

Sen Anderson (D-NM) a top strategist in the fight against the administration bill said tactics used by Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) had blasted chances for an early end to the marathon battle

'To Thanksgiving'

"We'll be here to Thanksgiving now" Anderson told reporters

Knowland advised of Anderson's remark said they would be "almost humorous if times were not so serious"

There was a quickened pace on the bill Monday night In a relatively amicable mood the Senate acted on more than half a dozen proposed changes Several advanced by Democrats were accepted by the Republican leadership There was even talk of an overnight recess and final action tomorrow

Then the spirit of cooperation came to a jarring halt just before midnight Sen Morse (Ind-Ore) opposing the administration bill launched into a speech that carried the Senate into and around the clock to keep the [illegible] fourth in less than a week

Heat Hurts Corn

Condition Worsens; Some Stunted

The condition of Nebraska corn continued to slide downhill last week despite cooler weather the State Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said

The division in its weekly crop report said about 38 per cent of the corn has tasseled

West of Saline and Jefferson Counties the division said, corn was stunted badly by the heat wave particularly the late corn It has a somewhat bushy appearance and looks as if some may not shoot ears"

The division said there are some areas west of the counties in which corn has burned from the heat

Rains fell generally over the western two-thirds of the state last week but the main corn area in eastern Nebraska received little precipitation

Harvesting of wheat was completed last week in northwestern Nebraska Yields varied greatly in that area as they did in the remainder of the state

Harvesting of oats and barley is about completed except in the more northern areas Yields have varied considerably but the average is good

Other comment

While the grain sorghum crop has curled considerably from heat and growth slowed the outlook is still good

The third crop of alfalfa is not making any progress because of lack of moisture Wild hay is short in the southern portion of the Sandhill but good in the northern section

Pastures generally are short because of the dry hot weather Rains last week freshened some pasture in southwestern Nebraska

Nearly all counties report a shortage of surface moisture and only one fourth report ample subsoil moisture A good general rain is needed badly throughout the state

Preference to Bids by Local Firms Discussed

School Board Decides To Continue Drawing Lots

With the awarding of steel bid at the regular meeting of the Board of Education the question of giving preference to local concerns when bids are tied popped up again

Supt Steven N Watkins brought the subject before the board at the request of Elmer Magee who could not be present

The firms in question were Gate City Steel Works Inc of Omaha and Lincoln Steel Works. Both submitted equal bids for 300 lineal feet of round mild steel and 100 lineal feet of flat mild steel

Attorney for the Board Willis Hecht said that legally the board could give local preference but I question it as a matter of policy

Hecht believes the bids should have equal basis no matter where they come from and cautioned the board that it was creating problems for itself

Dr John P Sonning board member said until a policy was adopted by the board ties in bids should continue to be settled by drawing lots as has been done

Past President Robert Venner and President Mrs Ruth Hill both expressed the wish that they would like to give preference to local concerns but the problems involved would be too great

Dr Paul M Bancroft board member, said if preference is given to local concerns it would be apt to give persons grounds to believe that School Board members get personal gain

Following the discussion the board decided to settle the tie by drawing lots [illegible]

Propaganda Makes U.S. An Aggressor

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Lincoln Journal Chicago Daily News Service

UNITED NATIONS N Y — We Americans know the circumstances under which two U S Navy planes shot down two Red Chinese planes off the China coast

McGaffin

But our action instead of heartening the Red-Threatened Asian and Arab worlds which is important to our scheme of things has scared the wits out of them

Those who will talk about it give an interpretation of the incident that goes something like this

"Communist China demonstrated at Geneva that she is a peace-loving power. She agreed to a far more generous settlement of the Indo-China war than she needed to do. When the British passenger plane was shot down last Friday Peiping showed her good faith by her prompt admission that it was an accident and her offer to pay compensation. But now you Americans come along and shoot down two Communist planes

Geneva Propaganda

Thus it will be seen Red China did her propaganda job well at Geneva

Of course we know that our planes were on an errand of mercy, searching for possible survivors of the downed passenger plane, when they were attacked

But the Asians and Arabs have a counter interpretation to this too

How would you feel if Chinese Communist planes came as close to the American coast as yours went to the coast of China?

Trigger Happy'

Instead of being sympathetic with us they seem to think we have gone trigger happy in the Pacific and are determined to get into a war with Communist China

Observers here are watching now to see what Red China's reaction will be to the incident. If it should avoid a belligerent note it will make even more propaganda for Red China and against us

Meantime here at the U N the disarmament commission continues to talk about its inability to halt the atomic armaments race

Miller has introduced legislation to give congressional consent for Nebraska to take over the station for use by the Agriculture Division of the University of Nebraska

It's the Hit that's writing New History

Take a look, if you please at the car and the styling that are changing historic sales standings

Take a look at the beauty and the buy called Buick—the car that is forging ahead to new sales heights in the 1954 market

Take a look at the new best seller that has moved into the "Big Three" of the nation's top sales leaders—into that very exclusive circle that for two decades has held only the so-called "low-price three."

For today, as national sales figures for the first five months reveal, Buick is outselling all other cars except two of these "low-price three " And each month firms Buick's new position.

It takes solid worth to bring this about—a lot more automobile per dollar in Buick than in other cars.

But it also takes the glamorous new tomorrow styling that is Buick today. It takes the highest V8 horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. It takes the room and comfort and ride and handling that are Buick's proud tradition.

And it takes a range of cars to satisfy a wide range of people – with prices that most people can well afford. So you find the low-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER—the four big reasons for Buick's tremendous sales success.

Come in for a demonstration and you'll see what we mean.

With the years-away styling of this glamor car, you'll be way ahead at resale time. And right now you're money ahead with the big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you. Drop in this week.

Gas Facilities In State Authorized

Over $4 Million to Be Spent By Kansas-Nebraska Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission said the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co Phillipsburg Kan has been given authority to build $4 096 890 of natural gas facilities in Nebraska

Included are 22¼ miles of 6 to 12-inch pipeline with 2 700 horsepower compressor capacity The line will be built on the company's existing natural gas transmission system

The new facilities will enable Kansas-Nebraska to increase its main line capacity to transport gas from new and additional sources of supply in western Nebraska and northeastern Colorado to the eastern part of its system and also will allow the company to serve Alliance Neb

Along with the construction authorization the FPC also issued a certificate to North Central Gas Co, Casper Wyo, authorizing it to transport gas for Kansas-Nebraska from Sidney, Neb to Northport

Alliance Gets Service

Kansas-Nebraska will use North Central gas to provide service at Alliance

In Nebraska in the Sidney area the work is continuing on the company's 12-inch pipeline from Deuel to Cheyenne County

Thomas Creigh Jr vice president of the firm said the new line will triple Kansas-Nebraska's capacity for transporting natural gas from western Nebraska fields

The new line will follow the course of a present line, Creigh said,—an eight-inch line which comes west to a point just south of Sidney and then swings down to the Logan County, Colo, fields

Creigh said a portion of the line will reach the new natural gas plant of Ohio Oil Company in the West Sidney gas field Another part of the new 12-inch line will start the west edge of Sidney and travel north to Ohio's Huntsman field gas plant

Piping Is Arranged

An arrangement has been made between K-N and North Central Gas Co for North Central to pipe K-N gas from Huntsman to Northport From there, K-N intends to build a new pipeline into Alliance to provide the community with gas fuel

Plans call for work on the pipeline to be completed by fall

Work has been under way under temporary authorization

The power commission recently authorized Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co to drop its plans for natural gas retail service in 13 Nebraska communities including Shickley and Ong These two towns fought the action, saying the company would have realized profit on its investment in the towns

The gas firm said it was not economically feasible to serve the towns

No Decision On Road Relocation

Relocation of Highway 12 in Cedar County came before the State Advisory Highway Commission and two versions of what would be best to do were given the commission

About 150 persons were present for the session and after it was over the commission decided to inspect the two proposed routes before making a decision

The improvement is scheduled to be included in the next two-year program starting next July 1 so work won't begin for a year or possibly even two years

The relocation involves making a more direct route between Maskell in Dixon County across Cedar County, to Crofton in Knox County eliminating the present winding road

One proposed route is a northern one, straight east from the junction with Highway 81 This would pass close to Wynot but would by-pass Fordyce on the north by two miles

The other is a southern one, following the present path of No 12 south on Highway 81 two miles then turning straight east This would hit the south edge of Fordyce but by-pass Wynot by about three miles

Representatives of the Hartington Chamber of Commerce appeared to speak for the southern route Highway 12 Association representatives favored the northern route

Referendum May Alter Wheat Policy

SIDNEY (AP) — Rep Miller (R Neb) was quoted by friends here as saying the results of the recent national wheat referendum may bring about a change in Department of Agriculture thinking on crop controls

He said in a telephone conversation the slim margin by which still marketing quotas were approved may make USDA officials more responsive to the bushel allotment plan which Miller endorses

One feature of the bushel plan is that a farmer could grow as much wheat as he wanted and save some in the event of a crop failure the following year The farmer would be guaranteed 100 per cent of parity on a certain number of bushels After that a downward graduated scale of prices would go into operation

I think there is considerable concern among smaller wheat growers as to the continued effect of acreage allotments,' Miller was quoted as saying "The result of the referendum did not surprise me because I had received many letters from wheat producers saying they were worried about the USDA's control program'

Miller said the Agriculture Department has speculated that if the drought continues the need for acreage controls may vanish and the price offered for wheat on the open market will be as high if not higher than the federal loan support figure

Auto Assessment Test Suit Looms

ALLIANCE (AP) — Box Butte Co Atty Bob Moran said he will appeal a tax ruling by Judge E L Meyer

Water Use Cases Cannot Be Handled by Waiver

Municipal Judge John Jacobson ruled that cases involving alleged illegal use of water are too important to be handled in his court by waiver and the defendant should be given the opportunity to appear in court and plead any defense he might have

This ruling was made when Albert Zessin of 3764 Garfield appeared in court and sought to plead in behalf of his wife, Mrs Dorothy Zessin, who had been given a ticket on July 24 by Motorcycle Patrolman Thomas Newsome for alleged illegal use of water

Zessin told the court his wife could not appear because she had two small children to care for and he requested permission to appear in her behalf

Dep City Atty Jack Dinan asked the court to rule on whether water use cases could be handled by waiver

Judge Jacobson said the subject was too serious to be developed by waiver

The citizen is entitled to any defense he has in these matters the court said 'and it is of such tremendous importance that the court is disinclined to treat it as a matter of course Because this woman has two children is not peculiar There will be some inconvenience attached to these cases

Judge Jacobson then continued the case until Saturday to allow Mrs Zessin time to arrange for her appearance

Korea Quiet Year After Cease-Fire

Telephone Line Joins 2 Sides

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — A year ago the shooting stopped in Korea.

The first anniversary of the cease-fire is marked by a clash between American and Chinese Communist words, but Korea's battlefield is silent.

Here at Panmunjom, a United American lieutenant sits at a desk with two telephone lines in a plywood shack a few hundred yards from the truce line.

Two double wires, one-eighth of an inch thick, pierce the Iron Curtain and connect the lieutenant with a Communist officer, Chinese or North Korean, in another shack about 100 yards away.

They speak to each other in crisp, business-like tones across the armistice zone created after three years of fighting that took the lives of 29,500 American soldiers and more than 400,000 United Nations and South Korean soldiers and civilians.

Red Does More Talking

The Communist officer does most of the calls and his talks are mostly. He has telephoned complaints almost daily since the cease-fire went into effect at 10 p.m. July 27, 1953.

In the year since the shooting ended, the Communists have accused the U.N. of 34 armistice violations. The U.N. has charged the Reds with 54. The U.N. admitted 33 violations, the Reds only two. The remainder were either denied or are under investigation.

In a cluster of tents not far from the shacks live the most controversial figures of the Korean armistice. They are the truce inspectors from Switzerland and Sweden and Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The telephone line through the Iron Curtain here is only 100 yards long. It ends in a shack presided over by an unknown Communist officer and no one discusses peace on that circuit.

Detasseling Is Past Peak

Harvest Near End; Haying Labor Plentiful

Of the 1,861 placements in farm labor last week, 666 were for corn detasseling, the farm labor report said.

The report, prepared by the State Employment Service, said detasseling is past the peak and harvest is near completion in the state.

Haying is going strong in the wild hay areas with generally sufficient labor supply on hand to meet the demand, the report said. Most of the combines and harvest workers have left the state.

While most of the state is in need of a good soaking rain, the western part of the state had some rain and smaller amounts were received in central Nebraska.

The combine camp at Hemingford is expected to close this week. The camp at Alliance is closed. Bulk of hay and harvest placements were not tallied "due to extremely busy season in harvest." A "very good rain" was a "definite aid to row crop."

Some 385 placements were reported in the Norfolk area, meeting the hay and stacker demand without difficulty.

Some detasselers are being laid off around Fremont which reported 379 placements. Corn needs rain in Dodge, Saunders, Butler, Polk, Platte and Colfax Counties.

The potato harvest started early in Buffalo County and will probably start in Dawson about Aug. 15, Kearney reported 179 placements.

McCook, reporting 237 placements, said the demand for farm workers is light. Moisture is needed throughout the area.

Hay in the northern part of the North Platte area is good but the southern portion is "practically dried up" due to hot weather and insufficient moisture. North Platte reported 184 placements.

Sidney, where the demand for workers is low, reported 257 placements.

Considerable crop damage was done by high winds, hail and three inches of rain north of Morrill. Yields of Barley were running 30-50 pushels per acre.

Scottsbluff reported 122 placements, with some surplus of seasonal labor.

There is fairly good demand for workers for short-time jobs in Hall, Hamilton and Merrick Counties, but around 11 other counties has lessened the demand for workers. Grand Island reported 62 placements. The harvest is complete at Grand Island, the yields generally coming up to expectations.

Air Refueling Squadron Formed at Lincoln Base

The 380th Air Refueling Squadron, second KC-97 tanker unit at Lincoln Air Force Base and the first air squadron to have its actual founding in Lincoln, has been organized.

Its commander is Lt. Col. Everett B. Thurlow, 39, of Lee, Me., a veteran of 52 World War II combat missions in the South west Pacific.

Col. Thurlow and members of some crews are currently training in KC-97s at West Palm Beach, Fla.

The unit's strength to date is nearly 100 men, but it will continue to grow this summer. Assignment of KC-97 tankers for the 380th is expected to come soon.

The base now has a squadron of KC-97s, the 98th Air Refueling Squadron.

Both units will engage in aerial refueling of B-47 Stratojet bombers, when these are assigned to Lincoln later this year.

The new unit was organized at Lincoln Air Force Base. The other units now stationed in Lincoln, the 98th Air Base Group, the 98th Refueling Squadron and the 98th Medium Bombardment Wing, were organized before being assigned here.

The 380th Squadron's commander first entered the service in 1941. During the early part of World War II, Col. Thurlow served as a co-pilot and instructor.

During 1944-45, he served in the Southwest Pacific with the 5th Bomb Group. He was commander of one of the group's squadrons and later was operations officer.

He left the Air Force after the war but re-entered in 1947. He served in various capacities during 1947 and 1948, then in August 1948 became assistant operations officer at Topeka AFB, Kan.

In 1950, Col. Thurlow was assigned to the inspectors corps at Travis AFB, Calif. He became assistant air inspector, and rose to air inspector, tactical inspector, wing air inspector, wing flying safety officer and commander of Headquarters Squadron, 9th Air Base Group.

From Travis, he went to March AFB, Calif., and became executive officer to the inspector general. He remained at March until being assigned to Lincoln early this month.

Shelby Sprinkler Irrigation Good

SHELBY, Neb. (AP) — A new irrigation system recently placed in operation on the John S. Ernst farm 10 miles north and one mile west of Shelby, has produced satisfactory results, Ernst said.

The system, invented by Frank Zybach, Columbus, Neb., is used by Ernst on a 40-acre plot of corn which a month ago stood one foot high. The system which covers the plot with an inch of water in 40 hours has been used five times in the last month and the corn is now nine to 10 feet high.

The new irrigator consists of a swivel in the middle of the corn field to which are attached pipes which for the swivel arms, six feet, eight inches above the ground are fitted with sprinklers sized progressively larger toward the ends of the swivel arms. The sprinklers throw water 112 feet at the rate of 94 gallons a minute.

Ernst said he pumps water to the swivel under 40 to 50 pounds pressure from a nearby sand pit. The swivel uses 450 gallons of water a minute.

Rep. Curtis Lists His Experience

ELKHORN (AP) — About 30 farmers and feeders participated in a discussion with Rep. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) Saturday as the First District congressman carried his campaign for the Republican Senate nomination (full term, into this eastern Nebraska area.

Curtis reminded the farmers that the farm state representatives in Washington are outnumbered and their bargaining position is not as strong as more populous states, so they need an experienced voice in Washington.

The 49-year-old lawmaker pointed out that he was elected to the House 16 years ago and returned to his seat seven times.

Rhee Plays by the Book

The optimistic build up for Syngman Rhee's arrival in Washington implying that the doughty president of South Korea had come prepared to soft pedal his determination to seek reunification of his country by force of arms [illegible] Monday night at a state dinner. There he made an impassioned plea [illegible] said "cannot live [illegible] unify our country, unless the aggressive Communist armies are cut of our land."

Before Rhee left Seoul, the ground had been laid in Washington for a slight retreat from his [illegible] that his country must have help to drive the Reds out or [illegible] have to go it alone. Yet, even [illegible] dinner speech, American officials [illegible] convinced [illegible] They were convinced that neither the [illegible] nor his military leaders would consider making war without U.S. support.

Following his talk with President Eisenhower and others early Tuesday, Rhee wouldn't say whether or not the matter of renewing the Korean war had been brought up, and dwelt on his expressed stand that there was no chance of unifying his country by peaceful means. A MOMENT'S THOUGHT

Psalms 64 10

The righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and shall trust in him; and all the upright in heart shall glory.

—Selected by Rev. [illegible] [illegible]

Franco Frees Thousands

[illegible] part of [illegible] defense against the Red menace, has just released 25,000 prisoners from jails, in tribute to the Virgin Mary, he says. This fifth amnesty since the end of the civil war in 1939, which left a Fascist regime in control of that ancient country, may stir a vagrant thought or two outside Spain. How many prisoners have been freed all told? How many were imprisoned as rebels against Franco? What happens to them now? The first question might be answered, after a little spade work, and there may be records to answer the second. As for the third, thousands and thousands of jailbirds are economically annoying, many of them could probably be used now in building fortresses and what not as part of the defense ring. all of them should be in a frame of mind now—the political prisoners that is—to settle down to good patriotic service in that sweet land of no liberty.

Twentieth Century Spain is as anachronistic as the doomed colonialism that France is now paying for in Asia, a policy which [illegible] by the determination of the West to resist the Red aggression and infiltration at no cost to itself.

Dr. Ernest W. Hancock

A gentle man, whose specialization in pediatrics reflected a genuine and deep-seated love for little children and joy in working for them, Dr. Ernest W. Hancock occupied a large and special place in the Nebraska medical profession. His was a still larger place in the affection of the many who knew the delightfully varied facets of his personality into which were blended a sharp roving intellect, academic sparkling wit and a kind and tender heart. He was a man who sought truth and beauty who found much of both in his avocation of music and in his vocation of service to the small and the helpless and whose selfless compassion in this lifetime of service shed a large measure of this same light on the lives of others.

Take a Note, Miss Winslow

From the Washington Post

If you're wondering why the papers on that sales prospectus aren't on your desk this morning, or why the plant manager's production schedules haven't arrived, or why that client forgot his 10:15 appointment with you, the explanation is really quite simple.

It all began last Thursday. From Paducah, Houston, Los Angeles, Detroit and everywhere the secretaries disappeared and flew to New York. By the week end at least two thousand of them had assembled in what one felicitous speaker called the most beautiful convention ever held.

Well, it may have been beautiful for those lucky enough to be there, but it was rough on the offices left behind. That noise you heard was the wheels of American industry creaking.

True, some of the girls, like Miss Shirley Sibert of Kansas City, were kind enough to leave three pages of instruction for her substitute. But have you ever met a substitute and tried to explain to her that if she takes three days to learn the three pages she might as well forget the whole business? Frankly, we can tell Miss Annie Winslow of Richmond, Va., who's been wondering how her engineering office got along without her, that they didn't.

All we can say is patience, gentlemen. The convention ended Sunday and surely by Tuesday most of the secretaries will be back at their posts. And by Wednesday we can start growling again.

The Atomic Energy Bill Is Urgent

WASHINGTON—No more important legislation has been put before this session of Congress than the atomic energy bill.

Its larger purposes have been almost blacked out by the filibuster which has risen around its fringes. What needs to be understood is that these proposed revisions in the Atomic Energy Act are absolutely essential to enable the United States:

To be assured of a vitally needed continuing supply of foreign uranium.

To bring its tactical atomic weapons to bear in Western Europe where they will constitute a new deterrent and defense against aggression.

To push forward with the peace-time uses of the atom if we are to hold our own, let alone take world leadership in a cause which could do as much as anything else to win the cold war.

* * *

Outmoded Restrictions

The central fact is that the McMahon law of 1946 which today lays outmoded restrictions upon atomic policy was enacted under conditions which have been swept out of being in the intervening years. The law is outdated. Legislatively it is as outmoded as the horse and buggy.

The McMahon Act was passed when the United States possessed a monopoly on atomic weapons and large expectations of continuing that monopoly. We have no monopoly today. It went had for years. The Soviet Union possesses all kinds of atomic weapons but under present law we cannot put even our tactical atomic weapons in the hands of our European allies in NATO where they will do the most good.

The McMahon Act was passed when the United States was the only important customer for foreign uranium ore. Today a dozen different nations are bidding for fissionable material and the United States has its hands tied behind its back in obtaining its vitally needed share. The reason is that under present law we cannot offer what our friendly allies most want—not uranium primarily but know-how to advance their own nuclear [illegible]

* * *

Industry Participation

The McMahon Act was passed when peace-time use of atomic power was a distant dream. Today it is an imminent reality, but under the McMahon Act American private industry can not participate in its development. We were so intent upon keeping atomic secrets from the enemy that we acted to keep atomic knowledge from ourselves. The atom needs private industry and private industry needs the atom unless other nations are to outdistance our efforts.

The modernizing of the Atomic Energy Act to deal with these realities is endorsed by the President, by the Defense Department, by the State Department, by the Atomic Energy Commission and by the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

It is the unanimous military view that the [illegible] nearly atomic weapons can be treated [illegible] conventional weapons the more surely [illegible] their maximum defense value be obtained. Yet to date we cannot provide the allied commanders in NATO even the minimum information necessary to their defense plans. As Donald A. Quarles, assistant secretary of defense for research and development testified: "These atomic capabilities may significantly affect the disposition and employment of available military resources. It is unrealistic to expect an allied commander to be held responsible for accomplishing an assigned mission when he has not been provided with adequate information as to the nature and number of the most powerful weapons which can be made available for his support." The enemy has this knowledge. It concerns not the secrets of manufacture but the availability and use of atomic weapons. They are not even a good deterrent if they are not to be used. It's like manufacturing matches but keeping secret how to scratch them.

* * *

A Seller's Market

We still buy from abroad vital supplies of uranium. When we held an atomic monopoly it was more of a buyer's market. Today it is a seller's market and friendly nations while willing to sell look to the day when electric power will be produced from their own uranium. To meet our wants it is our own national interest to make available to them some technical and other American material.

"There is no need here," Secretary Dulles quietly put it in his testimony, "to emphasize how important it is for us to stay ahead of the USSR in providing knowledge of how to put atomic energy to peaceful use."

The proposed changes in the law which to [illegible] strengthen the [illegible] power of our atomic stockpile by making [illegible] of atomic tactical weapons abroad [illegible] secure the raw-material base of our atomic program by helping friendly nations develop the peace-time uses of atomic power, to seize world leadership in constructive development of atomic energy by letting the energies of private industry do what the government is doing.

All these are the reasons why the modernized Atomic Energy Act is priority legislation.

Drivers Out of Control

Des Moines Register: An increasing number of accidents recently have been attributed to "cars going out of control." The detailed reports eventually will show that most of these accidents were due to the drivers being out of control, not the autos. Records of the state department of public safety show that last year only four of the 153 vehicles involved in fatal accidents were defective. Bad brakes do cause much tender smashing but bad driving especially speeding accounts for many more accidents resulting in deaths and injuries.

Add Spooky Statistics

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

— A Chat with the EDITOR

One of the interesting things about the Senate filibuster over the atomic energy bill is the fact that the senators currently employing this device are the ones who ordinarily are the most vehement in denouncing it.

"I think there is very little a senator can say now [illegible] we should allow our State Department to handle the matter." Mrs. Bowring hasn't been there long enough to learn that there is almost never very little that a senator can say.

The much touted Missouri plan for the selection of judges—which [illegible] Nebraska Bar tried but failed to get on the ballot in this state—has been having its [illegible] in Missouri. The Missouri plan [illegible] supposed to combine the best features of appointing and electing judges and to take the process out of partisan politics.

Not a Cure-all

The governor appoints judges from a list drawn up by a special commission representing bar, bench and public. The appointee serves a fixed term, then runs "against his record"—that is, without opposition. If he is not approved at the polls, his seat is vacant and the governor fills it by the same appointive process.

The St. Louis Bar Association in a formal brief filed with the Supreme Court complains that the plan hasn't been working well. All but one of 23 appointments have been from the same political party as the governors. The result says the Bar Association is that lawyers of the "wrong" political party are unwilling to allow their names to be submitted to the governor at all. Twice Gov. Donnelly has rejected panels of names submitted to him on the grounds they were politically drawn up—but seven out of the eight appointments he has made have been from his own party.

* * *

Missouri's experience of course does not mean the plan isn't a good plan or better than other methods of picking judges. It does mean that this process is no more foolproof than most other governmental processes, and in the last analysis depends on the spirit and good intentions of the men who administer it.

The loveliness of flowers a blooming

Hereford Sale Totals $35,590

ALLIANCE (P)—Buyers paid a total of $35,590 here at the auction sale disposing of 153 head of registered Herefords from the herd of Everette F. Heinz of Hemingford. Heinz said he sold out his herd because his health demands he move to another climate.

The top price for a single head was $2,000 by Jack King of Morrill for one of the herd bulls. A 9-year-old herd bull went for $1,000 to Chuck Jodence of Hemingford, a young rancher just out of the armed services who was accompanied to the sale by his 80-year-old grandfather, pioneer Hereford breeder.

Top price for a cow was $395.

The cattle were purchased by buyers from Nebraska, South Dakota, Montana, Oklahoma and Wyoming, and virtually all went into registered herds.

Divorce Granted!

By Howard Whitman

This is the eighth of 12 articles in which Howard Whitman, nationally prominent writer on social issues, gives a full, frank report on the problems of divorce.

Part 8

The Moral Issue

[illegible] on the brink of a marriage [illegible] wondering: Is it right to [illegible]? Though divorce is legally provided for in the civil laws of all 48 states, how does it stand in divine law? A couple will wonder, in short, "What does God think about it?"

Whitman

One cannot consider divorce very deeply without [illegible] the bed rock of [illegible] [illegible] social [illegible] what about the moral issue?

Each of the great religious faiths has its viewpoint, in some cases several viewpoints. Since all shed light on the problem, I asked a number of religious leaders for their views on marriage and divorce. Here is a summary of their answers:

In the Episcopal Church "we believe marriage to be the physical and spiritual union in which a man and woman are joined [illegible] in a new and holy relationship under God," declared the Rev. George W. R. Mac[illegible] Presiding Bishop's Committee [illegible] Episcopal Church [illegible]

Restrain Easy Divorce

On the subject of divorce, Dr. Ralph W. Sockman of Christ Church, Methodist, in New York stated:

"I profoundly believe that family life must be strengthened by restraining easy divorce. Nevertheless, there are some situations in which the individual's personality must be preserved, even at the cost of changing a marriage bond.

"The Gospel recognizes the right of a second chance and this would seem to apply even in the situation of marriage. The difficulty of course is to know the point at which there is no possibility of restoring [illegible] relationships. The Church's guidance should tend to a consideration of the physical and material aspects of marriage as well as the spiritual."

The Rev. Murray A. Cayley of the First Presbyterian Church of Rochester, N. Y., pointed out that the closing phrase in the preamble to the Protestant marriage ceremony is—"living together as the heirs of the grace of life."

He explained: "The grace of life is inherited by the partners in a marriage after they have succeeded in remaining loyal throughout a sufficient period to learn the spiritual grace of unselfishness and devotion in spite of tribulations."

In Some Situations

"The argument for divorce is based upon the supposition that some of those who marry discover that they were mismated and that their conflicts are irreconcilable. Personally I am ready to admit that there are some situations in which divorce is the only intelligent and humane way out of an impossible situation. I am not willing to admit however that divorce which makes escape easy from seemingly impossible situations produces finer and more mature individuals."

The Roman Catholic viewpoint on divorce differs from the views of most Protestants and Jews and is explicit in itself. Materials to explain it were supplied by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Archdiocese of New York.

From a publication of the Knights of Columbus: "The Catholic Church has never admitted that a valid consummated sacramental marriage bond can be severed in any way other than by death. Not even adultery breaks the bond and gives either the innocent or the offending party the right to contract a new marriage. Such always has been the unbending position of the Catholic Church."

From a pamphlet by the Rev. Martin J. Scott, S. J.: "If however in spite of everything the marriage situation becomes intolerable as it does sometimes the Church advises separation rather than to live in sin, for sin it is to live in animosity and at cross-purposes. But separation is advisable only as the very last resort, and with every precaution for the well-being of the children. But although the Church permits separation in extreme cases she never sanctions divorce with right to remarry."

Release by Death

From a tract by the Rev. J. Elliot Ross, C. S. P.: "For valid Christian consummated marriage the Catholic Church knows no release except death. However if the marriage has not been consummated it may be dissolved by the Pope or by the solemn religious profession of both parties. In addition to this the Church may grant a decree of nullity, that is, she may decide that a marriage never existed because of some impediment."

Father Ross states, "But in regard to sanctity of marriage, as with many other moral questions it is wiser to be strict than to be lax . . . for even the possibility of divorce naturally breeds divorce. Persons marry more recklessly, they are less considerate after marriage and they seek refuge in divorce for situations that time itself would heal did they but wait."

Rabbi Barnett R. Brickner of the Euclid Avenue Temple in Cleveland set forth the Jewish view of marriage and divorce as follows:

"In Judaism marriage is not regarded as a sacrament but is a spiritual contract, a union which means holiness, consecration, dedication to the highest and the best."

"The traditional attitude of Judaism toward divorce has been liberal. In pre-Christian times the rabbis took the position that divorce should be permitted not only on grounds of adultery, but for any reason that adversely affected the proper rearing of children, daily companionship, and the general happiness of the home."

To curb today's national abuse of divorce, Rabbi Brickner suggested, "If young people were properly trained in the meaning and responsibilities of matrimony the inevitable result would be more happy homes and fewer divorces. I believe too that we have much to learn from the ancient principle that obliged the Jewish Court, the Beth Din, to take time before writing the Get, the bill of divorcement, the reason being to give the couple time to cool off, to think it over and to be reconciled."

Serious Crisis

Rabbi Martin B. Ryback, newly elected spiritual leader of the Washington Avenue Temple, Evansville, Ind., pointed out that since most western countries have given divorce jurisdiction to civil courts "Reform Jews no longer require the Get or religious divorce. However Orthodox and Conservative Rabbis do insist upon the Get in addition to a divorce granted by the civil courts."

(The Rabbinical Assembly of America Conservative on May 18 amended the traditional marriage contract to require that couples seek rabbinical counseling before taking any steps toward divorce.)

"Remarriage of the divorced person, man or woman is considered proper and in fact is stipulated in the Talmudic bill of divorcement," Rabbi Ryback continued. "I do not wish to imply that the Jewish faith has an attitude of light-heartedness or casualness towards divorce. We regard the high frequency of divorce in our times as a serious crisis. Strong family life—in Judaism sholom bayis, peace in the home—is central in the Jewish religion."

Rabbi Joseph R. Narot of Temple Israel in Miami declared:

"The real moral issue in divorce for most Americans is to what lengths are a man and woman prepared to go in the effort to learn the real underlying causes of their conflict? Are they ready to look upon their difficulties as they would upon some physical sickness for the cure of which they would leave no possibility of hope unexplored? Are they determined to seek the best most highly trained guidance available to them? This is in the end the moral measurement—how deep is their resolve to make their marriage work?"

Tomorrow: SHOULD DIVORCE BE MADE MORE DIFFICULT? Could the law hold a couple together if both parties want to break up?

Speculation in Gold Stocks Hazardous

By HARRY C. FRANCE

I am frequently asked about the gold stocks. This short article will briefly answer many of my readers and those who have an interest in the matter.

I am not enthusiastic about the gold shares. The price of gold has not been changed since 1934—for 20 years our government's price has been $35 an ounce. In the meantime the gold producing companies have seen their labor costs and other expenses more than double.

France

If I were an officer of a gold mining company I certainly would put pressure on political authorities to raise the price. From my standpoint such companies are economically entitled to the raise.

Gold prices have become a political matter. Our own government is unwilling to increase the price primarily because it would add to our inflation and set in motion machinery that would probably lift prices which, in turn, would increase wages and costs.

* * *

There is no early prospect that gold prices will be advanced. Hence the mining companies must struggle with their wage and cost problems as best they can.

But as everybody knows politics is politics. And the price of gold is subject to political change without notice. I would not want to venture a guess that during the next 10 years—1954-1964—that gold prices will not be changed.

Homestake Mining is one. It has gross revenues of $20,000,000 yearly. It pays quarterly dividends. There are around 2,000,000 common shares outstanding with no funded debt or preferred. Its annual production averages around 500,000 ounces.

I recently mentioned McIntyre Porcupine Mines in this column. It is one of the top world companies.

Dome Mines is a third. For the period from 1949-1953 its average annual production has been more than 150,000 ounces. It too pays quarterly dividends.

Small investor speculation in the gold shares is politically hazardous. If one knew what kind of a world we were to have from 1954 to 1980 and what Washington's attitude about gold would be in 1956, 1960, 1964, 1968 and so on, then risk might be undertaken. But presently, there is little romance in the gold shares.

Special to The Journal

LAWRENCE — Teen-agers in this community are learning the hard way that there's more to farming than eating roasting ears and fried chicken

After returning from a day's work at detasseling corn south of Lawrence members of the Legion Baseball team were so tired they could hardly play ball One boy fell asleep on the bench

Edmund Barnett team manager protested to his State Legislator that he felt his son had received an unfair wage while detasseling corn near Kearney

Robert Kline of Lincoln representative of the State Division of Employment Security investigated the report of dissatisfaction among the corn detasselers Monday in the Hastings Lawrence area as to the wages they were receiving

Most of the detasseling work in the state is done by teen agers Harold Mahan of Lincoln state labor placement specialist said

Several youths in Lawrence said they had worked [illegible] worked if the crew finished the job

A youth who detasseled corn near Kearney said the workers had that no one could finish the job About 30 of us quit in one day he said

The state labor office explained that corn detasselers are not protected by the federal wage and hour law as they are not engaged in interstate commerce

Kline said the decision to work in the cornfields still belongs to the individual and that acceptance of the wage is necessary if he wishes to do that type of work

Mahan said the 50 cent an hour wage rate was about standard in Nebraska He said he did not know what corn detasselers were paid in other corn states such as Iowa

Clowns, Puzzles, Toys Provide Therapy

By CYNTHIA HENDERSON
Journal Staff Writer

With all of the new wonder drugs and new medicines, a very simple type of medicine —toys—remain as an important part in a child's recovery.

During the long hours of recuperation, children need to keep their minds busy to restore their bodies to normal life. For this purpose, hospitals and "mother nurses" at home have used toys widely to help the child.

Many parents ask, "What can I give my child to play with while he is sick?" And visitors to the sick ward often wonder what they can take to add a little cheer.

Toys, from a functional standpoint, often help to bring back the use of particular joint or muscle by chosing a toy which uses the stricken part. Toys also offer a diversional use. They take the child's concern off his illness and make a positive interest in the toy.

Occupational therapy and the use of toys has been a major program for children with cerebral palsy. These toys stress self-help and muscle co-ordination.

One of the favorite toys at Orthopedic Hospital is "Clancey the Clown." Clancey is of felt and has slits in his eyes, nose and mouth. The children are taught to slide buttons through the slits. This teaches them the principle of buttoning a button.

Other functional toys are the pound board, equipped with large pegs, which helps in eye and hand co-ordination. The play-school mail box, a large wooden mailbox with triangular, square and round holes, is a practical activity. Triangle, square and round blocks strung and then "mailed" through the corresponding holes in the mail box.

Musical interest is encouraged by toy xylophones which double as a hand co-ordinated skill. For leisurely amusement, many children are given large wooden puzzles. Another two-hand activity is lacing the "old woman's shoe." Peg boards teach various colors and matching.

If your children have scarlet fever, measles, or chicken pox, you can entertain them with paper dolls, picture books, fun books of mazes, follow the dots, tracing, etc.

For longer term illness it is especially important to start an activity which will hold their interest. Many a fine, lifelong hobby has been started from the sickbed. Particularly for older children, stamp collecting, handicrafts such as weaving, knitting, embroidering, copper tooling or braiding gimp into bracelets and watch chains hold interest. When dealing with children with a contagious disease, toys which can be sterilized or thrown away after use are safe.

Sickness does not need to be a painful time in a child's life. If you have your favorite teddy bear or panda to share some of the pain, those weeks are not nearly as difficult and the road to recovery is much shorter.

Toy therapy is a major part of the program at Orthopedic Hospital. Miss Marilyn Green, occupational therapist, helps the children learn to manipulate the toys. Busy having fun are: (from left) Billy Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Conley of Omaha, Miss Green, Ruby Keeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Keeler of Newport, and Eddie Arneson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arneson of Niobrara.

Germans Look Forward To Visit of Margaret

Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BONN, Germany — Princess Margareet is used to crowds of course, but it is doubtful if she has experienced such hoards as will turn out for her when she arrives here in Germany.

Busloads of women from all over the western part of this country plan to be here on her arrival. Most of them represent women's associations and are interested mostly in what the princess will wear.

British women's lips appear to be sealed on this subjeect. From no one, not even the under-maid of the under-maid can one discover what Lady Gale, wife of Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander in chief of the Northern Army Group, is going to wear when the princess stays at their house for two nights.

* * *

NOR CAN BE discovered what anybody is going to wear at the ball which is being given in the princess' honor.

All the young men available, officers of course, are being pressed into service for this great occasion.

More than 147,000 marks is said to have been spent on the various army and air force messes where the princess will have lunch.

Elaborate facilities are being made available for the press and photographers to view Margaret's arrival. No newspapermen are being admitted to the ball, but two photographers, in formal attire will be granted five minutes at the beginning of this event. Then the princess and 599 other guests will be on their own.

* * *

THE MAIN purpose of the princess' visit to this country is to seee the British troops, but the Germans are delighted that she has accepted the luncheon invitation of Federal President, Professor Heuss. A German guverument has not been visited by any meinber of the royal family since before World War I.

An extra 500 policemen have been called on duty here though Margaret herself will be accompanied by only her lady-in-waiting, her personal maid and one inspector from Scotland Yard.

Hopes are high among the Germans that the weather will be good and that she will drive in an open car. Old ladies here are giving free rein to nostalgic thoughts about when they, too, had a king and queen.

British and Americans are agreed, mostly unofficially, that Margareet's next trip will be to the States where, rumor has it, she has been longing to go since her friend, Sharman Douglas, returned from England.

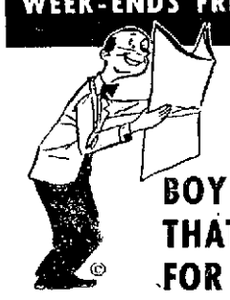

Arkansan Here With Grandmother

Mary Kathryn Tinker has arrived for a six week visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Tinker Sr. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Tinker Jr., former Lincolnites who now make their home in Crossett, Ark.

Mary Gordon

Lonely One Advised to Help Others

Dear Mary Gordon: How can a person get over one heartbreak after another?

One of my worst ordeals was to lose my husband. The latest is to lose the love of my only daughter.

I accepted the attentions of a man at the advice of my minister. At first I felt guilty but later I learned to like the man very much. He then asked for fewer dates. He said his widowed mother resented me.

I am unhappy, Mary, and God is my only help. I get so despondent I'm afraid I am losing my mind.

My daughter tells people I don't love her children any more because I turned her down when she asked me to sit with them a night I was busy at an organization.

I am alone entirely too much now.

Please tell me what to do. I'm reasonably happy at work but my evenings and Sundays are terribly lonesome.—Widow.

Answer: The remedy would be to stop thinking about yourself—help others and be thankful that you have had a happy life in the past.

There are always young parents who would enjoy having an unpaid baby sitter; old folks who would appreciate a visit and a little gift; nursing aids are always in demand at the hospitals.

We can't sit down and mourn for the days that are gone; we have to make our happiness for ourselves by feeling wanted and useful. The town is full of widows who miss their husbands but manage to make reasonably good recoveries.

As to your daughter's complaints; laugh them off. She should be a consolation to you; not a worry. Don't be a doormat—help her when you can, when you can't, suggest some other sitter.

If none of thee self-help measures bring you back to a normal outlook, consult the Family Service Association it can refer you to psychiatric help.—M.G.

Jelly Parfait Delicious

Here's an "old familiar" turned fancy. What you see is a beautiful grape jelly parfait made from a simple tapioca pudding. It's easy to do, inexpensive, and can be put together at the very last minute. Make the pudding part during the morning hours . . . chill . . . and before serving spoon in the "ribbons" of grape jelly between layers of chilled pudding. The secret of turning old standbys into elegant company dishes is always to remember to pick up several tumblers of jams, jellies and preserves when out shopping.

Village Real Estate Said Cause of Valuation Loss

The steadily decreasing value of real estate in Nebraska's smallest towns was a reason most often given the State Board of Equalization for county valuation losses.

As the state board opened hearings on the tax assessments of the various counties, it often heard the explanation that in many villages property just doesn't move.

Nemaha County Assessor H. B. Muse, for example, said that after the state board last year ordered a blanket increase in town lot valuations for his county it left some small towns "terribly high."

Auburn, where property moves well on the market, was about right and was left alone, Muse said. But outlying small towns, such as Johnson, Auburn, Nemaha and Brownville were reduced because assessments did not reflect the sales picture.

That county, which lost 10 per cent on town valuations this year, was before the board to show cause why its town lots shouldn't get a blanket hurt.

Cuming County officials explained that property moved so slowly in small towns there — such as Bremer — that it was almost impossible to tell how much values had fallen off. County Assessor P. Emerson Graunke said estimates were that in Bremer values had fallen anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent.

Cuming County came armed with affidavits, analyses of sales figures, and filled-out questionnaires by local realtors to back up its claim that there has been a 15 per cent decline in real estate prices there.

Dep. Co. Atty. Robert D. Moodie analyzed sales figures used by the tax commissioner's office in determining Cuming County's level of assessment and said that at least 15 of the 33 sales did not represent "realistic transaction."

Burt Realtistic

Burt County, which has had a scientific reappraisal, maintained that last year's valuations were too high and that its 17 per cent loss this year is in keeping with reality.

That the state board might have trouble sustaining its arguments if it accepted these contentions was shown by Otoe County, which demanded that the state board use the same yardsticks as last year.

Otoe County filed a formal protest. "Specifically, we ask that you equalize the abstracts of every county in the state on a comparable basis with last year either by raising or lowering those counties that are not in line with the state formula."

Tom Shanahan of Talmage, representing the Otoe County Farm Bureau, argued along the same lines.

Pawnee and Johnson Counties were asked in to show cause why valuations on their farmlands shouldn't be reduced.

After they had appeared, Ernest Woodard of Ralston, field representative of the tax commissioner's office, recommended these counties be let alone until scientific reappraisals now in progress are completed.

Lewis Laflin of Lincoln, owner of Johnson County farmlands objected to leaving assessments on farm property at what he calls a high level.

But Johnson County officials said they thought farmland assessments should be let alone.

"We need that money," remarked John Huls, member of the county board.

It was a squabble over assessments two years ago involving Laflin and the Johnson County board which brought the Supreme Court decision forcing state-wide equalization of assessments.

Sarpy County officials said that they felt they had equalized farm lands at the proper valuations. But if the state board felt they were out of line with farm property in surrounding counties there would be no objection to a decrease in assessments.

Hamiton Co. Irrigation Is Viewed

Special to The Journal

AURORA — Proper management to insure uniform distribution of water was the chief topic as Hamilton County farmers viewed irrigation procedures on four different farms in the area.

Hamilton County has shown greatly increased interest in irrigation during the dry weather, according to County Agent C. M. Mead. About 500 deep wells are now pumping in the county, reported Arthur Sundermeier, chairman of the Hamilton County Irrigators Association.

Dwight Pumphrey, irrigation engineer with the Hamilton Soil Conservation District, said that slope of the rows is the biggest factor influencing the rate of water movement in furrow irrigation. On flat slopes he recommended increased amounts of water at the start of the set to get the water through the rows as quickly as possible.

Paul Fischbach of Minden, extension irrigation engineer, stressed importance of starting pumps early in the season. Even with water in the subsoil, plants suffer if the top 18 inches is permitted to dry out in early stages of growth, he said.

Farms visited were those of Frank Sims, west of Aurora, 54 acres of sugar beets watered through gated pipe; Marion Condon, west of Aurora, sprinkler irrigation on alfalfa; Ted Regier, southeast of Aurora, 130 acres of corn watered with open ditch and siphon tubes; and Walter Troester, southeast of Aurora, 21 acres of soybeans irrigated with gated pipe.

Horseshoe Competition Thrives on Imperfection

By EARLE L. JESTER

MURRAY, Utah (AP)—Grasp the bit of U-shaped metal in your hand, draw your arm back, step forward and let go. If you've done it correctly your horseshoe is around the stake for a ringer.

The secret? Let Ted Allen of Boulder, Colo., the defending world's champion, answer.

"You've got to be in top condition. Then every move you make is important. If everything goes right you throw a ringer every time. If you fail in some way, your shoe falls short or long, or goes to the right or left."

Being human, the entrants in the World's Horseshoe Pitching tournament in progress today in this small Utah town do make mistakes. Competition for the championship thus results from their failure to throw ringers every time.

An example: Each man throws two shoes; each gets one ringer and his other shoe lands an inch or two from the stake. The ringers cancel and the player whose other shoe is closer to the stake gets one point.

Often both throw two ringers; result, no score. But those ringers are important. In the event two men tie in the won-lost record at the end of the $4,000 tournament the player with the most ringers gets the place.

Nearly 80 men entered the qualifying round of this year's tournament. Thirty-six went into match play with 12 of those dropping out in the first round, Friday.

Saturday night the remaining 24 began another round-robin in groups of eight. Each played three games and four more followed last night. There was no Sunday competition.

Who are those world's best horseshoe throwers?

Allen has made his skill earn his living. Starting as a Kansas farm boy he began throwing many years ago. He got pretty good and decided he "kind of wanted to travel with my shoes." He's been doing it for 20 years, performing in variety shows throughout the country.

He won the world's championship in 1933 and has held it a number of times since, yielding it only to a stocky Californian, Fernando Isais of Los Angeles. Between them they've had the title 20 years.

Isais is in the advertising sign business and horseshoes is strictly a hobby. His pitching secret? "I just throw 'em like anybody else."

Guy Zimmerman, one of the top challengers, operates a plumbing business in Danville, Calif. He, too, learned to throw horseshoes as a farm boy, in Iowa.

Other competitors include a farmer, laborer, bowling alley operator, baker, machine lathe operator, trucker, carpenter, contractor, miner, educator.

Horseshoe pitching is their hobby; the world's tournament the high spot of their annual vacation. They bring the wives and kiddies along and tournaments are arranged for them, too.

Allen; Zimmerman; Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, N.Y.; Casey Jones, Random Lake, Wis.; Louis Dean, Pomona, Calif., and Cletus Chappele, Portland, Ore., scored perfect records of three straight wins in Saturday night's play.

Isais lost one game, to Dean. Also with 2-1 records are Truman Standard, Canton, Ill.; Roland Kraft, LeCompton, Kan.; Ron Cherrier, Hopkins, Minn., and Glenn Anderson, Moline, Ill.

Denver Sweeps Series As Chiefs Fold, 10-4

DENVER (AP) — Denver tabbed its sixth straight Western League victory Monday night with a display of batting power that routed Lincoln 10-4 and swept the three-game series.

Loyal Bloxam went the route for the Bears, who now lead the league with an 8-game margin. Bloxam held a 9-1 advantage after five frames but a pair of errors put him in trouble in the eighth when the Chiefs scored three times.

Lincoln tallied initially when Billy Smith singled, Mel Rue walked and Johnny Jones plated Smith with another one-base blow.

The Chiefs' unearned runs in the eighth came on errors by Butch McCord and Don Dahlke, a walk to Andy Anderson and singles by Red McQuillen and Tom Neill.

Rocco Ippolito ended the Bear scoring in the eighth with a homer.

Bill Barker (3-2) will hurl for Pueblo against the Chiefs tonight. Manager Whitey Wietelmann of Lincoln is expected to use Vance Carlson (7-5) in an attempt to halt a losing streak at three.

Rally Whips Optimists

By FORREST MILLER
Journal Sports Writer

HASTINGS — A superb one-hitter served by Optimist right-hander Denny Curtin suddenly disintegrated a few minutes before midnight Monday, and with it went Lincoln's hopes of getting a rest from the gruelling American Legion tournament schedule.

The final score favored Hastings, 1-0, thanks to Dick Egen's deciding single in the ninth. Now the Optimists must win three games in as many nights or discard any hopes they may have had about a berth in the state tournament at Columbus next week.

Tonight at 8 p.m. Dick Cecil's disappointed but not disillusioned Lincoln nine meets Falls City. Falls City bowed to the Optimists in Sunday's opener, 9-2 but rebounded to smash Fairbury from tourney competition, 15-1, in Monday's first game.

Loss Will End Play

If the Optimists get past the Falls City crew again, they'll collide with Hastings again Wednesday night. And, if, the Capital City nine can find someway of turning the tables on last year's champions who by Wednesday will be rested and will not have zipped back and forth over U.S. Highway No. 6, several hundred miles, there'll be another game Thursday night.

An Optimist loss tonight would throw Falls City against Hastings in the bid for the state tourney slot.

Choking the Optimists Monday night was righthander Tom Osborne—a name that may become quite unpopular with Lincoln sports fans.

Too Much Osborne

In addition to not allowing a Lincoln baserunner past second, Osborne was a member of the Hastings High basketball squad that beat the Links in the state semifinals. And he's expected to be the axle of next year's Hastings cagers.

Monday Osborne struck out 10 walked four and allowed but four hits. The strike out total included three whiffs of leftfielder Roger Krhounek. Jon Lutz, Lincoln rightfielder, authored the only extra-base blow of he day, a second inning double.

Canadian Eyes Catalina Swim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Tom Park, winner of the 26-mile Atlantic City Centennial swim, said he plans to make an assault late in August on Florence Chadwick's record for crossing the Catalina Channel off California.

The Catalina event is the next major swim for the 39-year-old Canadian father of two, who beat fellow countryman Cliff Lumsden by 100 yards in the marathon Island Monday.

Roy Mack Insists A's Not for Sale

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Roy Mack emerged in his own light today as the current strong man of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The normally quiet, unassuming executive vice president of the American League club stuck his jaw out a country mile at the mid-summer baseball meetings in New York yesterday and announced the A's are not for sale, a half a hundred rumors notwithstanding.

And if that wasn't plain enough talk, the eldest son of Connie Mack declared he was in the throes of a family squabble with his younger brother, Earle, to obtain complete control of the club and change the downtrodden Athletics into a pennant contender.

Admitting that he had discussed the future of the A's with a syndicate headed by Arnold Johnson of Chicago, who has been pushing Kansas City for a major league franchise, as well as several groups from points West, Roy said:

"When I say we are definitely not selling, I mean that. It's easy enough to kick a guy when he's down, but I'm not going to stay down.

"I'm going to battle for all out control of this club, especially since the 'Save The A's' has got going."

This last was a reference to an effort by local civic and business leaders to retain the club in Philadelphia. The campaign has not as yet produced outstanding results. But its backers are hopeful the tide is turning although the club's present seventh place spot isn't helping much.

Earle Backed Down

As for his hassle with his brother, Roy said:

"Some time ago, my brother, Earle, said he would give me an option to buy his stock. We went so far as to practically have the options drawn up for signature. Then he backed down. I don't know why but he did."

The A's stock is divided just about equally among Connie Sr., Earle and Roy.

"Go ask Roy where he is going to get the money," was General Manager Earle's comment.

"We're at a very low ebb," he said, "and it's management's fault that we have sunk this low. That's why we'll have to make a lot of changes for 1955."

One of the miscues Roy reportedly was upset about was the deal last year which sent outfielder Dave Philley to the Cleveland Indians for two pitchers, both now in the minor leagues.

National Jr. Tennis In Action

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Top-seeded players from across the nation went into action Tuesday against survivors of first round play in the National Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament at Kalamazoo College.

Most of the seeded players drew first round byes in the boys' division Monday but everyone was scheduled to play in the junior competition.

Top-seeded Myron Frank of Los Angeles, originally pegged to start in the second round of the junior singles, had been matched in Monday's first round but moved up by default.

Esteban Reyes, Mexico City, top-seeded foreign entry in the junior tourney, also had been scheduled to start play in the second round but was matched instead with Don Middlebrook, Des Moines, Iowa. Reyes had little trouble as he downed Middlebrook, 6-1, 6-1.

Costa Gets Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Vic Towcel lost a unanimous 10-round decision Monday night to Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn, who has all the earmarks of a real comer.

At 133 pounds, Towcel was 15 over his weight when he lost his world bantam crown to Jimmy Carruthers in '52, and he was slow compared to the clever 20-year-old but and run featherweight who is unbeaten in 25 pro fights.

It was Towcel's first fight out of his native South Africa and his first since December.

Costa weighed 129 pounds.

Meanwhile, Paulie Andrews of Buffalo, N. Y. knocked out Canadian Yvon Durelle in 1.06 of the fifth round Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena, finishing the bout with a right to the head. The Canadian lost every round of the cards of all three ring officials.

Next for Andrews is an Aug. 18 Wednesday date in Chicago Stadium for which no opponent has been named.

Andrews weighted 175¾, Durelle 166½.

Tri-State to Kansan

FALLS CITY (AP)—Jordan Hames of Sabetha, Kans., won the Tri-States open golf tournament here, carding a 114 total over 27 holes. Hames was four over par on the three rounds. He also was the tourney medalist with a one-under-par 35.

PGA Features Old Scrappers

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Chick Harbert and Wally Burkemo, two golfers who thrive on the kind of competition where you face the other fellow and try to beat him down, met today in the final match of what may be the best-played PGA championship in the post-war era.

It was the second man-to-man clash between these two, who live and work scarcely 10 miles apart in suburban Detroit, and the third PGA final for each. That should be enough to prove their qualifications for match play, a kind of rugged competition the top pros seldom encounter except in the PGA tournament.

It would be merely belaboring the point to cite their performances in yesterday's gruelling 36-hole semifinals.

Burkemo, the defending champion, almost crushed Cary Middlecoff with one brief string of birdie-shooting, let him get away and then came back to win on the 37th. Harbert, twice runnerup but never a winner in this tournament, had to go clear to the 36th green to down Tommy Bolt, 1-up.

Burkemo and Harbert clashed in the second round of the 1951 PGA at Oakmont and the blond, bright blue-eyed Burkemo won on the 19th hole. That was when Wally, playing in his first championship, went all the way to the final before he took a 7 and 6 drubbing from Sam Snead.

Burkemo only lasted until the third round the next year, when it was Harbert's turn to go to the final, but he took the title last year at Birmingham, Mich., beating Felice Torza, 2 and 1 in the final.

Harbert, the one-time boy wonder of Michigan golf, now greying and growing portly, attained his first final at Detroit's Plum Hollow Club in 1947. Then Jim Ferrier's great putting cut him down, 2 and 1.

Burkemo, son of Norwegian immigrants, didn't become a golf professional until after his Army service. He was wounded twice while serving in France and spent a year in hospitals. He has the build of a middleweight and his bold game marks him as a fighter.

Harbert, vice president of a golf club manufacturing concern, also plays a bold game. That's been his trouble in the past. Noted for his long hitting, Chick couldn't resist the temptation to try to hit farther and the result usually was trouble.

Although he was wild at times yesterday, he managed to restrain his walloping at the important times. Against Bolt, an intense competitor himself, Chick gained a two-up lead at the 27-hole-mark and then started to shoot steady pars until the holes ran out.

Bolt matched the pars for seven holes, then, when it was a case of win or quit, he sank an almost unbelievable 40-foot putt for a birdie on the 35th. Both hit the final green in two shots and Harbert, the pressure now on him, ended the match by ramming a 12-footer into the cup.

Burkemo could have won easily by shooting the kind of golf Harbert did. Starting the afternoon round, he went from one down at the 20th to three up at the 25th by shooting birdies on four of five holes. That was almost too much for Middlecoff, who was hitting his shots badly and was bothered by a pain in his hip.

ST. PAUL (AP) — Defending champion Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., took a two-up lead over neighbor Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., on the first nine holes of their 36-hole final of the PGA Championship Tuesday.

ABC Schedules New Sports TV

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball and track are going to join football on big time television this winter.

The American Broadcasting Co. lifted the wraps a little from the plan they used to lure the NCAA's big football program from the National Broadcasting Co. and it showed a 26-week winter and spring schedule of college sports.

The joint announcement by ABC and the NCAA came yesterday, including the list of football games to be shown for free on home screens this fall.

The football list originally was learned last Friday, four days before the official announcement was due. There were no changes from the unofficial list although it was pointed out that some late-season substituting might be done if certain games become suddenly attractive and others decrease in interest.

Robert H. O'Brien, executive vice president of ABC, and Les Arries, the network's sports director, said plans for the additional sports shows were not yet complete. But Arries said it probably would begin with the LaSalle-Niagara basketball game of Dec. 11.

Other possibilities for the Saturday telecasts, Arries said, include the Dartmouth Winter Carnival, the Penn and Drake Relays, the IRA Regatta at Syracuse, the Big Ten-Pacific Coast track meet and the Intercollegiate Rodeo at Colorado A&M.

ABC televised a college basketball game each week during last season over a network that covered the East and Midwest.

Trade circles said ABC paid about two million dollars for the football TV rights and speculated that the extra college shows probably swung the deal away from NBC. NBC has countered with a Saturday schedule of Canadian pro football.

In a reference to the competition, O'Brien said:

"I don't believe anything in the field of sports has the draw of good college football. Of course, there may be some dial twirling."

So far, no sponsor has been announced for the football program. Last season General Motors picked up the check.

The complete official football television program:

Sept. 18—Oklahoma at California; Sept. 25—Michigan State at Iowa; Oct. 2—Illinois at Stanford; Oct. 9—Rice at Wisconsin; Oct. 16—Southern California at Oregon, Oct. 23 (Regionals)—Northwestern at Pittsburgh, Boston University at Holy Cross and Montana at Brigham Young; Oct. 30—Penn State at Pennsylvania; Nov. 6—Texas at Baylor; Nov. 13—Alabama at Georgia Tech; Nov. 20—Michigan at Ohio State; Nov. 25—Missouri at Maryland; Nov. 27—Army-Navy at Philadelphia; Dec. 4—Notre Dame at Southern Methodist.

Trio Ties for Low

Mrs. Adna Dobson, Mrs. Seldon Davey, and Mrs. Bob Davis completed the first day of the Lincoln Country Club Ladies Medal Golf Tournament with the lowest handicap scores.

Mrs. Dobson led the 18-hole class with a 72 while Mrs. Davis netted a 38 to tie Mrs. Davey.

Mrs. Jack Zimmer had a 73 and Mrs. Ed Taber a 74. Mrs. Walter Henrion closed in 7[illegible].

The tournament will be continued today and concluded Wednesday with one round each day.

'No Cat and Mouse' Mile Seen

VANCOUVER (AP)—John Michael Landy, Australia's sensational miler, served notice today that the Aug. 7 British Empire Games mile classic may produce the third under-four-minute mile in history.

The shy 24-year-old runner, who holds the world record of 3:58.0 for the distance, covered three-quarters of a mile in 2:59.4 yesterday and talk in Empire Villages, home of athletes for the games' 24 competing countries, was that the Landy-Roger Bannister race might break the four-minute barrier.

Landy's clocking came at a time when a great wave of optimism affected all ranks, from top men of the games organization to the 700 or so competitors from Australia to Uganda. With the games only three days away, General Chairman Stan Smith of the Vancouver organizing committee said in an interview that "These games will be the greatest in history from every standpoint—calibre of competition and even to finances." He could be right.

The 500 spectators at the stadium yesterday didn't realize that Landy was being clocked by Australian team officials. He was swinging along at what appeared to be a leisurely gait and covered only the three-quarter distance.

His time was given to a few sportswriters on the scene. Word spread quickly through Empire Village and the talk was that the Aug 7 classic won't be the "cat and mouse" race most people expect it to be.

Landy and Bannister have said they would be out to win and that the time would be a secondary importance. Observers predicted that the pair would jockey for position throughout the race and that the time would be more than four minutes, but now they aren't so sure it will turn out that way.

While Landy worked out at the stadium, Dr. Bannister, first man to crack the four-minute barrier, jogged around a golf course close to the village.

"We have assembled our best athletes and we confidently expect to pick up a few medals," said spokesmen for England's team. Englishmen, naturally, pick Bannister to whip Landy and they also expect to go places in the middle-distance track events with such three-milers as Fred Green and Chris Chataway.

"We'll do okay, and we'll be surprised, and even disappointed, if we don't get four or five gold medals in track and field and swimming alone," was the confident word from the Australian camp. The Aussies are picked to win the unofficial team points standing with England in the runner-up slot.

I May Be Wrong

By Walt Dobbins
Journal Sports Editor

Today's I May Be Wrong is by Dick Becker, pinch hitting for Sports Editor Walt Dobbins

"Hey, Becker, are you here again"

This greeting from my worst critic and favorite golfer always signals the beginning of another City Junior Golf tournament out at Pioneer

My links' pal a smooth swinger who makes his score fit into his tournament plans, is Jere Carey, 12-year-old son of Walter and Kathleen Carey 1810 So 15th

JERE CAREY

Jere is no press hound In fact, he would prefer that I leave the Junior Golf Tournament strictly alone "You're not going to put those scores in the paper are you?" he inquired again this year

"Sure" I told him "By the way, where did you get that name Jere? I never heard of that one before"

"Oh that's some bandleader's I guess My real name is Gerald

"How did you shoot?"

"I had a 106," the 75-pounder answered

"That's not so hot," I retorted to the lad with the crewcut "It's pretty good" he fired back "Why should I do better? Do you want me to play Elliott or Breitfelder? One of them is going to win it I'll probably be in the fifth flight"

He was referring to John Elliott who qualified with an 84 and Phil Breitfelder who had 80

Jere a 12-year-old who doesn't quite tip the 5 foot mark and I are working our third junior tourney together Jere might set a record for he has about three more to go before he hits the age limit

It's not a life or death matter with either of us, in fact that's what makes the tournament so enjoyable These kids haven't reached the stage yet where they have to alibi away their bad shots

Jere doesn't realize it, but I have to handle myself with a little more decorum than he does I don't dare draw a challenge from some of these kids, especially the ones that can break 90

Young Carey and I would make a good match He was a little off his game with 106 I could probably do a bit better than that myself—if I got some good bounces

Jere's older brother Terry went over the age limit this year so we don't have two Careys playing It also seems strange not to have the Tauer boys around Up until this year there were three of them—Tim, Matt and Ed

Meet Should Be Bigger

Mr. and Mrs John Peterson the patient supervisors of the meet, send the boys out and then patiently await their return Some of them come in in strange twosomes, threesomes and foursomes after starting out in regulation threesomes

Sam Schwartzkopf, the former Nebraska tackle, had his 8-year-old son Louis entered and the main question was not about Chipper's score but whether he could finish the long 18 holes

It seems a shame that there aren't more entries in this meet There were 49 this year, 38 last summer

One of the main problems seems to be transportation I suggested a chartered bus to the Lincoln Golf Association last year in their annual meeting but it was felt the cost would be too great

The Petersons, I am sure, agree that the meet could and should be much larger

Many of the better players in the city now got their start in this meet Linn Crain president of the association is another big booster of the tournament and he is doing everything he can to build interest and entries

Jere and I sure think it is a fine thing, despite our differences on newspaper coverage of the meet

Bums See Long Road

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Old pros PeeWee Reese and Jackie Robinson agreed today that the New York Giants have been yanked back to earth but insisted "it'll be a long, hard road" before the Brooklyn Dodgers win the National League pennant

"We beat Sal Maglie and they looked terrible" Reese conceded after the Dodgers' 9-1 rout of the first-place Giants Monday night "But they've got a sound club and they're not going to panic They're no more panicky now than we were three weeks ago when they beat us six straight games"

The loss not only marked the end of Maglie's four year mastery over the Dodgers at Ebbets Field but was the Giants fifth straight defeat— their longest losing streak of the year Their once massive seven-game lead had dwindled to a mere three games and there was talk that Leo Durocher's bubble had burst, and that the Giants were about to bow out of the race with as thunderous a crash as when they entered it

Reese, Robinson Disagree

But Reese and Robinson refused to accept the theory and Manager Walt Alston was inclined to agree although Brooklyn's Silent Man shrugged off the debacle as just another game along a long road

"We're going to catch 'em all right" said Robinson who banged out three hits in the 15-hit assault on four Giant pitchers "But it won't be easy They're playing bad ball but they're a good team Maglie looked no better or worse than he's pitched against us many times before We'll win because we're the better ball club not because they're going to collapse"

"Robinson and Reese have given us needed impetus in the last week" Alston said. "Now it's up to Roy Campanella"

He's pressing so hard" Alston continued referring to Campanella "He could be the key man for us now and consequently the key man of the entire race"

To Have Hand Examined

Campanella who is scheduled to have his injured left hand examined Wednesday failed to hit safely in four tries Monday night But Alston isn't giving up hope on the two-time Most Valuable Player in the National League

"He'll be all right" Alston said "He's pressing now because he wants to help us so much But there's nothing physically wrong with him He'll come around"

Maglie had a 10-0 lifetime mark at Ebbets Field and an overall career record of 21-7 against the Dodgers before Monday night's game but was hammered for 11 hits and six runs in five innings The Dodgers continued their attack on three successors turning the game into a rout with a three-run sixth inning rally during which they made only one hit

Erskine Victor

Carl Erskine meanwhile turned in a five-hitter to gain his 12th victory

In the only other major league game Monday the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1 on Gene Conley's four hitter The Braves jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Bill Bruton's triple and Ed Mathews' single and added another in the third when Bruton singled stole second took third on an infield out and again scored on a single by Mathews In the sixth Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko doubled for the third Braves run Conley missed a shutout in the last of the sixth when Curt Roberts tripled and scored on an infield out

MUM'S THE WORD—Catcher Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers with sons Tony (left) and Roy, would make no statement as he left the office of a specialist where he had been treated for his injured hand (UP Facsimile)

Willie May Top Ruth; But He Sure Doubts It

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)— Amazing Willie Mays could be destined to break Babe Ruth's home run record but the man who came the closest to that much sought mark doesn't believe it will happen this year

You can take it from Hank Greenberg whose 58 in 1938 fell just two short of the Bambino's greatest record that sooner or later the storybook 60 is going to be surpassed And the general manager of the Cleveland Indians think it might be Mays who does it

But the challengers are going to have to change their formula

Ruth posted his record with four homers in April 12 in May, nine in each of the months of June July and August and a staggering 17 in September That final month's output is what has wrecked each of the hopeful pursuers in the past

Whoever does it and somebody will some day, he's going to have to get away out in front of Ruth's pace before that final month" Greenberg diagrams If he needs only seven or eight through the whole final month, then he's got a chance

Need 12 Per Month

Big Hank looking as fit as in the days when he was hammering home runs wholesale for the Detroit Tigers figures that the man who ultimately does crack baseball's most glamorous record must be on a 12-a-month schedule

That would give him about 52 going into September" he explains "and then it would be possible"

But he cautions there are other considerations These he pointed out are

"He has to find a home park where most hitters play better ball

He has to be on a team which has a strong lineup so that the pitchers can't afford to walk him

And he has to be with a team which scores a lot so that he gets those precious extra times at bat

Wanted RBI Record

Greenberg points to his own case in 1938 as example

"I wasn't pressing for home runs" he insists "As a matter of fact I wanted the runs batted in record more than the home run record and was more disappointed when I fell one short with 183

But as for the home run" he adds I had 58 with five games left to play Then we went to Cleveland and played three games in a big stadium Then too I walked four times in one game

I wasn't nervous— but those pitchers were" he chuckled They don't want to be known as the guy who threw the ball which broke Ruth's record"

Which brought him back to Mays who prior to Monday night's game had 34 homers in 96 games— where Ruth had 34 in 98 games

"He isn't enough ahead of Ruth to give himself that necessary September cushion" Greenberg figured That last big month which Ruth had makes his record very misleading, Matching him up to here isn't so tough

But Willie will find out come September that 17 is a right rough number

Which would indicate that the record is safe for another year— and until the challengers change their four-bagger formula

McCook Wins; Moves Ahead Of Holdrege

McCOOK (P)—The McCook Cats moved ahead of Holdrege in the Nebraska Independent League after taking an 8-4 decision over the Bears Monday night

The big blow in the game played otherwise on even terms was a fifth inning homer by centerfielder Bill Johnson of McCook with two men on The homer gave the Cats a 5-3 lead and McCook led the rest of the way

Ben Dreith allowed eight Holdrege hits and Dick Batts of Holdrege held McCook to seven Catcher Pat Haggerty of McCook was ejected from the game in the fifth for arguing with the umpires

The game was a makeup game postponed from last Thursday McCook had been in the NIL cellar

Disagreement Seen On Campy's Hand

BROOKLYN (P)—Catcher Roy Campanella and the Brooklyn Dodgers were in flat disagreement on whether or not his ailing left hand is getting better

"It seems to me to be getting worse" insisted the ace catcher after visiting surgeon Dr Herbert Fett for an examination Monday "The paralysis seems to be extending to my thumb"

But the Dodgers announced officially that in Dr Fett's examination perceptible improvement was found They also announced that the hand will be examined Wednesday by Dr Edward Dombrowski a neurologist

Swedes Tough Hurdle In Davis Cup Struggle

NEW YORK (P)—The Australians, who have made a habit of beating the United States in the Davis Cup tennis finals passed along a friendly word of advice today—there's a tough road ahead

Sir Norman Brookes president of the Australian Lawn Tennis Assn arrived in town from Europe full of praise for the Swedish team which won the European Zone cup finals yesterday

"The Americans will have to be playing their best to beat the Swedes," Sir Norman declared

The United States has two more hurdles before thinking about Sweden but Sir Norman said he expected the Americans to experience no difficulty on this side of the Atlantic

The United States faces Cuba at St Petersburg Fla, starting Friday in the American Zone semifinal In the other semifinal Mexico will entertain Cuba Aug 20 22

Sweden climaxed its European comeback by sweeping past France in the finals, 5-0 Sweden won the European Zone in 1951 with the same team which has conquered all comers this time—Sven Davidson and Lennart Bergelin

In that year too the U S was warned the Swedes were tough But when the two countries met in Australia in the inter zone final, the American forces breezed to a 5-0 triumph

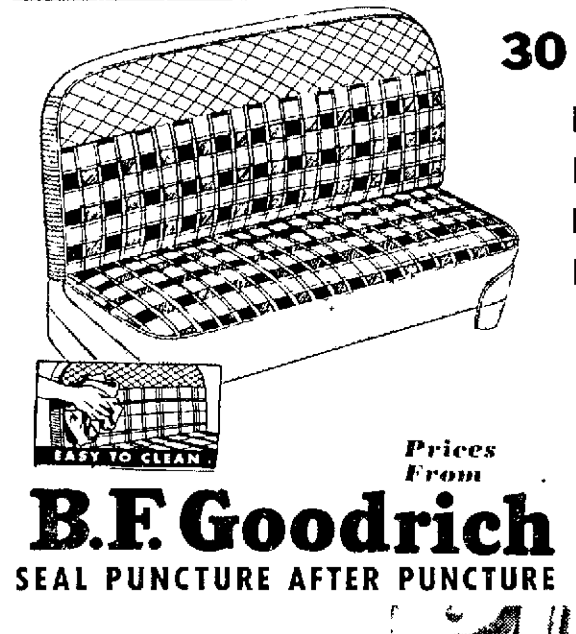

Both Bergelin and Davidson have played brilliantly in cup competition this summer They defeated Belgium the defending zone champion, in the semifinal round Davidson holds the U S indoor title

The United States will use the same three players against Cuba who won easily over the British West Indies 5-0 in first round play. Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge La, is the captain with Straight Clark of Pasadena Calif, and Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Va as the other team members

Richardson and Clark usually combine for the doubles match Two brothers, Orlando and Reinaldo Garrido, will represent Cuba They are due in St Petersburg tomorrow

Jaycees Adopt Plans for 2 State Projects

FAIRBURY (AP) — The Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce adopted plans for two state-wide projects at its summer quarterly conference here.

One of the programs, called "Cornhusker Future," will consist of monthly youth projects sponsored by each of the state Jaycee chapters.

Vincent R. Colhra of Lincoln is state chairman for the project.

The second project is a flag-selling campaign in conjunction with the Jaycees Americanism program.

Rex Haberman of Hastings, unsuccessful candidate for state president, was elected national director from Nebraska, to replace Walley Amen of Scottsbluff, who resigned.

Approximately 160 delegates from 33 state chapters attended.

Delegates included: Hugh F. McKenna of Omaha, a national vice president, and Edwin Dosek of Lincoln, immediate past national vice president.

Nebraskans Favor Atomic Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Harrison, Hruska and Miller, Nebraska Republicans, voted with the majority when the House, by a 231-154 vote, passed and sent to the Senate a bill amending the Atomic Energy Act. Rep. Curtis was in Nebraska.

Reed Estate Taxes Paid

Estate tax totaling $14,746.25 has been paid to Nebraska from the estate of Abraham L. Reed of Omaha, who died May 27, 1952, the state tax commissioner's office reported.

Gross value of the estate was reported as $776,324.05.

Curtis Wants Fair Farm Market Price

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — The American farmer is entitled to a market price "that is fair in comparison to the prices that he must pay for everything he buys," Congressman Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb) said.

Curtis, campaigning for the Republican nomination for the six year Senate term, said, "To obtain this objective we must pursue every angle including:

"1. Support prices, for which I have always voted;

"2. Every possible effort to increase foreign exports;

"3. Protection against foreign imports of those farm products which we produce in sufficient amounts, and

"4. A program for converting surpluses into industrial alcohol to be used for motor fuel."

Curtis said a program for turning grain surpluses into alcohol would mean a return of farm-grown power, a product he said farmers lost "when horsepower was replaced by modern farm implements."

"I favor turning surpluse crops into alcohol and requiring a blend of alcohol in our motor fuels," he said.

Mayor Jeary on Summer Camp Tour

Mayor Clark Jeary left early Tuesday for Camp Carson, Colo., to observe the Army training program for three days. Along with other Nebaska civic leaders, he was invited by Col. John R. Dey, in charge of headquarters, Nebraska military district. Trev E. Gillaspie also made the trip from Lincoln.

Martin Keeps Promise to Self

OMAHA (UP) — David Martinis said he has kept a promise he made himself to avoid the "generality of being for everything good and opposed to everything bad" in his campaign for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator.

Martin said, "I have made my position crystal clear on what I believe are the major problems facing the people of today and in doing so have made clear what David Martin's theory or thought as to our federal government and its place in the lives of American citizens.

"I'm now more than ever convinced that the people of Nebraska are interested in a candidate who is willing to make his position known and that the keeping of the promise I made myself at the opening of the campaign is going to result in victory for David Martin on Aug. 10."

Youth Bound Over On Larceny Charge

John Vincent, 20, of 3510 W, has been bound over to Lancaster District Court on a charge of grand larceny.

Terry Favors Larger Postal Wage Increase

State Sen. Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, said he was in favor of a bill to give postal employees an $800 pay raise.

Carpenter said postal employees have had no increase since 1951.

He said the present bill, which permits a raise of 5 per cent, is not enough to compensate for the "great increase in the cost of living since 1939."

"The reclassification approach by the postmaster general will nullify any increase in the proposed small increase in wages and result in complete chaos among postal employees and bring into the postal service on the local level unrest, politics and a demoralization of the postal service."

"Wages, working hours and regulations must be the responsibility of Congress and not that of some political henchman on the local level," he said.

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy buying in steels and railroads, backed by a broad demand for many individual issues, Tuesday sent the stock market ahead strongly in the late afternoon.

There were many gains of between 1 and 3 points to key areas of the list. Losses as a general rule were small.

Rising prices brought in a lot of buyers and sent business to an estimated 2½ million shares.

Steels got early attention and registered substantial gains. Late in the session the railroads suddenly jumped into prominence with rapid gains.

Governments Ease As Bonds Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government bonds eased in an irregular bond market Tuesday.

Slow over the counter dealings produced a 4-32 decline for the 30-year 3¼s at 111 10-32 bid. Shortly before the close, Victory and bank-eligible 2½s of 1967-72 were off 2-32 at 100 14-32 bid. The 7⅞s of 1959 dipped 1-32 at 100 14-32 bid.

Providing for acquisition of title, by condemnation, to lots needed for opening and widening of Mohawk, 46th to 47th.

Changing from single family to multiple dwelling, property usage at northeast corner 56th and Huntington.

Accepting and approving plat of part of Park Manor, south of "A" and east of 58th, remainder previously accepted.

Amended ordinance for sewer in what would be 54th, if open, from Sumner to Everett.

Amended fence ordinance prohibiting fences exceeding six feet in height, and barring fences on corner lots, within 30 feet of the intersection of property lines on two intersecting streets, except open wire fences not more than four feet high when, in the opinion of the building inspector, they will not prove hazardous.

The council killed an ordinance providing for a water district in Everett, 52nd to 56th.

On recommendation of Deputy Attorney Jack M. Pace, the council rejected the $25,000 personal injury claim of Mabel Fossler who was hurt from a fall in the city hall. Pace said the claim is without legal foundation.

Weatherman: 'Go Slow' in Rain Making

OMAHA (AP) — Weatherman E. F. Stapowich said Monday he had advised four communities to "go slow" in hiring professional rain makers.

Stapowich said that, while the mechanics of actually producing rain appear to have some merit, conditions of moisture and temperature have to be so nearly right that rain probably would result anyway without any prodding from the rain makers.

Two of the communities, he advised, he said, were Tekamah, Neb., and Onawa, Ia.

Competition Sharpens in Dog Days

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Competition is sharpening up in the dog days. Business management is getting in some of its heaviest licks now, fighting for the most favoravle position possible in the fall.

The year of the "hard sell" is bringing no-quarter battles within industries, and between industries. It's back of many of the mergers of the day. It leads to pleas to Congress for relief from some forms of competition, and to federal regulatory agencies for bans on "unfair" competition.

Capacity to produce more than the present market needs lights the fire under most of the competition for the consumer's dollar.

The auto, steel, oil, textile and television industries are examples.

Battles over competing ways of doing things are another phase. Examples are: The struggle of bottles, cans and cartons for food and beverage distribution; and the attempt of the railroads to compete with trucks by carrying truck-trailers piggy-back on flat cars.

To-the-death competition in the auto industry has led to three mergers among the smaller companies and to talk of still more combining to come. One aim was to strengthen the dealer setups of the merged companies, since dealer systems are the backbone of sales.

The dealers themselves have been in bitter competition. The cries over "bootlegging" of new cars at used car prices were carried all the way to the U.S. Department of Justice.

Steel merger rumors also seem to stem back to the increasing competition in that industry. The bigger, diversified companies have the best competitive position for sales and profits, now that the industry as a whole is operating at only about two-thirds of capacity.

Steel prices went up with the latest steel wage hike, but price concessions haven't stopped. Companies are absorbing freight costs here and there to meet competition from closer sources of supply.

And the fields in which one metal vies with another are seeing the effects of the battle for sales. Steel products in competition with aluminum haven't gone along with the general steel price hike.

Aluminum executives, as they negotiate over wages with the union, are wondering how much of a wage boost can be passed along in higher prices without giving away markets to steel or copper.

In textiles competition between the various natural and man-made fibres is getting stiffer.

Television set makers are in a price-cutting battle. At the station level the fight is between the ultra high frequency and the very high frequency outlets.

It all makes the consumer look pretty well off.

Top Notch Stage Facilities To Outshine Omaha, KC

"Lincoln will have the largest complete theater with permanent stage between St. Louis and the Pacific coast," said Benjamin C. Moore of Spokane, auditorium specialist.

Moore, who is here conferring with the architects and members of the special auditorium committee, has prepared a detailed listing of equipment needs for the Lincoln structure with an eye on operating revenues.

"With a spacious theater," Moore said, "you will be in better position to accommodate large road shows, operas and ballet at popular prices under ideal audience comfort conditions, than Omaha, Kansas City or other cities."

Although the auditorium will be completely equipped for sports such as hockey, basketball, boxing and wrestling, all semblance of this type of entertainment, Moore said, will be removed to create the proper atmosphere for stage events.

He outlined wide aisles, form-fitting upholstered seats and ample concession outlets and dispensing facilities to serve large crowds quickly and efficiently.

There will be approximately 8,000 square feet of exhibit space in the main auditorium and exposition hall to accommodate events such as horse shows, sports shows, industrial fairs and automobile shows with adequate electric facilities, water, gas and drains.

On the changeover speed and flexibility side, Moore pointed out a basketball game can be played on a floor over the ice in the afternoon up to 5 o'clock and then be removed and the ice be ready for hockey or something else by 7:30.

"One of the major advantages of the Lincoln auditorium," he said, "is its central location downtown. For consistent profitable operation, this is a 'must'."

Curtis Calls For Larger Allotments

OMAHA (AP)—Rep. Carl T. Curtis called on Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson "to consider drouth conditions in Nebraska in setting acreage allotments."

Noting that the purpose of acreage allotments is to reduce surpluses, Curtis pointed out that "Farmers hit by drouth will have no surpluses to store."

Curtis, who seeks the Republican nomination for long-term Senate seat, said "Farm income must be protected. Not only is farm prosperity basic to Nebraska, but it is the keystone of national prosperity."

"I urge all support levels, acreage allotments and other features of the farm program be maintained at a point where there is no drop in agriculture income," he said.

He expressed hope in a statement that the Senate would consider, before adjournment, legislation sponsored by Rep. R. D. Harrison (R-Neb) which proposes to develop foreign markets for American farm products. The bill already has won House approval.

French, Vietminh Halt Shooting After 7 Years

HANOI, Indochina (UP) — The French and the Vietminh ordered firing stopped in part of Indochina today — 7 years, 7 months and 8 days after Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebel legions attacked Hanoi.

The truce negotiated at the Geneva conference became effective in North Viet Nam and its rich Red River delta at 8 a.m. (7 p.m., CST, Monday).

The armistice is scheduled to spread gradually over the four other sectors of the war-ravaged Southeast Asia land, becoming effective on Aug. 1 in Central Viet Nam, Aug. 6 in Laos, Aug. 7 in Cambodia and Aug. 11 in South Viet Nam.

Hanoi's big guns roared sporadically throughout the night before the cease-fire became effective and the Vietminh kept up pressure on outlying posts manned by Vietnamese units. In recent days the Reds have concentrated on such posts in an apparent effort to encourage desertions and prevent the native troops from moving south with the departing French.

There was no certainty that the killing and wounding had stopped in North Viet Nam. This was a cease-fire, not a signed peace.

Mines sowed along the roads and paths and in the rice fields may take their toll for months.

No one could be certain that all the thousands of Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas or all the irregulars loyal to the French-supported Viet Nam government had received the stop-fighting word or would obey it.

Nebraska Gets Seminole Water

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. A. L. Miller confirmed that the Interior Department has released 150,000 acre-feet of water from the Seminole Dam in Wyoming to several Nebraska and Wyoming irrigation projects.

Miller said the water, released on a "loan" basis, would be used in the Goshen project in Wyoming, and the Gering-Ft. Laramie, Pathfinder, and Northport projects in Nebraska.

A surplus of water had been declared at Seminole, Miller said, making the water available to the west Nebraska areas, which have been short of water because of an extended dry spell.

Gas Leaders Told Path Not Easy

OMAHA (UP)—More than 250 of the nation's gas industry leaders wound up a one-day meeting, first held in the midwest.

Omaha advertising executive Morris Jacobs told the group the path ahead was "not an easy one."

He said the gas men were confronted by constantly increasing, more severe, government regulations. He said the gas industry was in an enviable position, but added, "You must continue to sell and serve in order to maintain your present top marketing acceptance."

Another speaker at the conference, known as a "gas industry public relations conference," was W. E. Wilson of Shreveport, La., director of public relations for United Gas Corp.

Wilson said "It is more in the public interest that adequate supplies of natural gas be available to the public at attractive prices than that inadequate supplies be available at bargain prices.

Other speakers were S. D. Whiteman of Hastings, president of Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., of Phillipsburg, Kan.; G. E. Switzer, president of the Propane Service Co. of Beatrice; and Herbert Nelson, sales manager of Northwestern Public Service Co. of Grand Island.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

BY ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D Sc.

1 If the yearly 30 000 traffic fatalities and 1 million injuries occurred in one day the whole nation would be up in arms Washington State stopped half its accidents by having helicopters patrol plain and uniformed police and severe sentences for violations shows what can be done Why not do it?

2 Apparently the men Social Scientist Paul Wallin found among 90 student college women and 97 student men with divorced parents the women had almost twice as favorable attitude toward marriage as the men Dr Wallin thinks this may be because these women feel they have learned how to avoid the things that made their parents marriages fail

3 Yes Evansville Ind did this by a three year study resulting in assistance for schools a 132 page booklet on local opportunities Leaders found one third of all high school pupils were planning to go elsewhere for careers Letters were written by 31 000 high school students on Career Opportunities in Evansville Grand for keeping boys and girls at home marrying and settling down among old friends
